

ARDEN CHO

Arden Cho isn't just a beauty queen. Born in Texas and raised in Minnesota, she has a strong Midwestern work ethic. She has trained extensively in Tae Kwon Do, Martial Arts, gymnastics, piano and cello, and, in 2003, her years of dance experience earned her a spot performing in the Walt Disney World Parade.

Arden flexed her hosting muscles in 2004 when she was crowned Miss Korea Chicago. With her new title, she competed in the Miss Korea Pageant in Seoul, South Korea and hosted multiple events in the Chicago area, including the 2005 Miss Korea Chicago Pageant and the 27th Inauguration of the Korean American Association. She also emceed regularly at the University of Illinois, where she began her theatre training.

Before finally moving to Los Angeles in 2007, Arden spent two months doing humanitarian work in Kenya, proving that even on her way to Tinsel Town, she was prepared to work hard. Arden has seriously pursued her acting career with training in Meisner and Stanislavski techniques. She has also appeared in numerous commercials and was most recently seen on "CSI: NY" and "Mad TV."
