HENRY DITTMAN

Henry Dittman has guested on TV shows such as "Monk," "Two and a Half Men," "Crossing Jordan," "Zoey 101," "Felicity" and "Titus." He was also a contributing writer and regular performer on Comedy Central's "The Chris Wyldes Show." He has appeared in lead and supporting roles in the feature films "National Lampoon's Beach Party at the Threshold of Hell," MGM's "The Poughkeepsie Tapes," and festival indies like "Lost Everything" and "Boppin' at the Glue Factory."

As a host, Henry has interviewed such stars as Mena Suvari, Marla Sokoloff, Marley Shelton, and Tommy Lasorda to name a few. He hosted gigs for USA Network's "Before and Afternoon Movie," and AOL Studios' "My Music Channel" and was a correspondent for Gametap.com's live event coverage of Comic Con. He recently hosted pilots for E! Entertainment and Fox Reality Channel and currently is in his second season hosting "The Smart Show" for Endemol.

A jack-of-all-trades, Henry also does commercial and animation voiceover (Disney's "Higglytown Heroes" and Cartoon Network's "Naruto") and live theatre and sketch comedy. Henry has recently begun moving into directing and producing as well, serving as a producer on the second season of "The Smart Show" and directing and producing independent pilots and videos for the internet. He is currently working on a television pilot adaptation of his popular live show "Buzzy Grovener's Ding Dong."
