

Gillian Todd

Originally from Montana and now a long-time New Yorker, Gillian got her start in Frozen in Fear (starring Rod Steiger and Eric Roberts) at just 13. She recently returned home to work on Broke, opposite Wyatt Russell. She has performed in numerous indie productions, including upcoming features: Loud and Longing (Precariat Productions), and the lead role in Dead Remains (Nick Groff, dir.). She has been a fixture in some of the most popular titles in the True Crime genre including: Evil Lives Here, Diabolical, and True Crime with Aphrodite Jones. Recent theatre credits include NY Premiere of Sister Calling My Name (Storm Theatre Company) and Jenna in a staged reading of Colder Than Here alongside Emmy winner, Anna Holbrook and Tony nominee, Mark Jacoby. When not acting or producing, you will find Gillian on a mountain, at the gym, or in hip-hop dance class to balance her intense passion for cooking and culinary adventures.

www.gilliantodd.com