

LEAH RUDICK

Leah Rudick is a comedian and actress currently living in Los Angeles by way of New York by way of Ohio. She regularly performs stand up at venues such as The Comedy Store, Flappers, and UCB/LA. She is the co-creator/co-star of the new web series, Made to Order which has been featured in Marie Claire, New York Observer, Indie Wire, Flavorwire, and Decider.

She began performing comedy in NYC in 2006 with her sketch duo, Skinny Bitch Jesus Meeting (Upright Citizens Brigade, Caroline's on Broadway, the People's Improv Theater). Festivals include New York Sketchfest, Fringe Festival NYC, Los Angeles Comedy Festival, Charleston Comedy Festival, Ladies Are Funny Festival, East to Edinburgh at 59E59, Capital Fringe Festival in DC, Women in Comedy Festival, FRIGID New York and Out of Bounds. They were listed as one of the twenty-five funny people that should have their own television show by Complex Magazine.

Leah runs a monthly show called The Reunion at Bar Lubitsch in West Hollywood. Film Credits include Chemical Cut (official selection of Slamdance Film Fest), Jammed (Runaway Bandit Productions), and Prayer to a Vengeful God (Insurgent Pictures). She co-wrote and co-starred in the indie feature Sweet Parents, which is currently on the festival circuit and has taken home top prizes in Montreal, Brooklyn and NYC. Most recently she was seen on the HBO hit series, High Maintenance.