

NICK HEFF

Nick Heff hails from the land of Orlando, Florida where he was raised by a troupe of Disney World performers (scary, I know). He has spent the last four years in the Queen City—Cincinnati, Ohio pursuing his BFA in Acting from the University of Cincinnati College-Conservatory of Music (CCM). At CCM, his most notable performances include Laertes in Hamlet and the astronaut Greg in Will Eno's Middletown.

Nick has performed with “Shakespeare on the Rocks” creating live, unrehearsed retellings of Shakespeare's classics. Nick has also made appearances at Cincinnati Opera as a featured actor combatant for the US premiere of Pink Floyd's Another Brick in the Wall.

This fall, Nick traveled to Harlem, New York, where he reprised the role of Greg in Middletown. When Nick is not on stage, you can find him posting totally gnarly content with his friends at Uh-Kookamunga, a comedy sketch group he writes and acts with. Most recently, Nick was the lead in the short film House of Hell.